

1

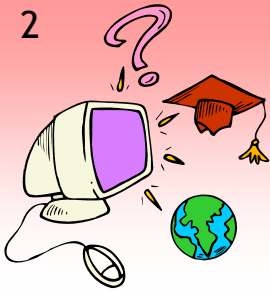

The Internet

Match the Internet terms on the left with their meanings on the right !

A	WAN	E	people all over the world post messages on certain topics
B	Domain Name Server	P	file type that is used for photos
C	email	H	powerful computer that controls many smaller ones
D	top level domain	J	small computer programme that can damage your system
E	newsgroups	C	people send messages or letters to each other with the help of a computer
F	HTML	L	a word or picture on a web page that can take you to another place when you click on it
G	browser	A	a network that connects computers that are very far apart.
H	server	N	another word for Internet address
I	MP3	F	language that is used to write web pages
J	virus	B	it changes the names of computers into numbers
K	modem	O	to communicate with someone by typing a message into a keyboard
L	hyperlink	I	type of music that can be downloaded from the Internet
M	hacker	G	special programme that finds information on the net and shows it on your computer screen
N	URL	M	a person somewhere in the world who wants to get into your computer and control it
O	chat	K	it connects your computer with the telephone line
P	JPEG	D	the organisation or the country where the computer is located

2

The Internet

Rewrite the paragraphs !

Many sentences in the following text are wrong. Underline the parts that are wrong and rewrite a correct version of the text in the second box !

Every computer on the Internet has a mail address. It is made up of up to 20 numbers. Sometimes two computers have the same address.

If you want to read a web page you need a special computer. The only language that it understands is FAQ. A document can only have text or pictures . There are special elements called bookmarks that let you browse from page to page.

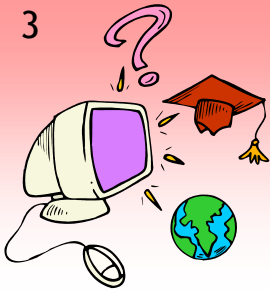

Hackers sometimes want to help you when you are in trouble. They find out your networks and take control of your domain. You should use a network to keep them out.

Every computer on the Internet has an IP address. It is made up of 4 groups of up to 3 numbers . An IP number can only exist once in the whole world.

If you want to read a web page you need special software called a browser. It understands HTML. A document can have text, pictures, animation , sound etc.. There are special elements called hyperlinks that let you travel from page to page.

Hackers sometimes want to cause damage to your computer. They find out your password and take control of your computer. You should use a firewall to keep them out.

3

The Internet

Complete the text on how we use the Internet by filling in the correct words from the box at the bottom!

Today, the Internet plays a major role in our lives. Companies sell more and more products over the net and we can go shopping without leaving our house. The Internet has also made travelling easier. Just visit a website and book a holiday or a flight .

If you want to buy software just download it from the Internet. Fewer CDs are bought in music stores. Especially younger people download their favourite music as MP3 files .

Whenever something in the world happens, the Internet can take you their very quickly. You can read news stories, watch video clips or listen to interviews on the web.

More and more schools and universities are using the Internet to teach students and pupils. They can communicate with their teachers by email or chat and they even get their homework over the net.

Scientists can share information on experiments and other results over the net. It is even possible to control telescopes or other instruments that are far away.

chat	favourite	role	travelling
companies	fewer	shopping	universities
control	instruments	software	video clips
download	products	something	website
experiments	quickly	teach

